Cause an Awakened Speculative Demand For Stocks and an Advance in Prices During the Week — Money Market.

New York, March 24.—Evidently Wall street attaches importance at this time to the abtitude of London towards the local securities market, for when it was seen from the morning cable it was seen from the disposition manifest here yesterday to sell out and take profits was completely altered. The buying for London account was supplemented by a rush to buy all classes. London's influence was shown in the leadership in the early market of the international favorites, of which E. & O. and D. & R. G. stocks were most conspicuous. Baltimore & Ohio rose in the late dealngs an extreme sty and retained its conspicuous place in the market throughout. Pennsylvania, in which the transactions are wasted to a large scale, was dealt in in the market throughout. Pennsylyamia, in which the transactions are rarely on a large scale, was dealt in in 1,000-share lots, atmost as though that were the normal suit of transactions, and individual transactions in the stock ran from that up to 5,000 shares, which was the size of the block block when the price first touched 140.

An early liking was obtained of the probability of a favorable bank statement, based on the growing abundance of funds offered to borrowers. The heavy loan contraction, in spite of the outbreak of speculative activity, indi-cates how important an element was buying of government bonds for speculation in tying up the money mar-ket. The late rally in governments indicates that the principal liquidation on this account has been completed. The loan contraction by the banks resulted in a decline in deposits of nearly $14,000,000, and a consequent reduction in reserve requirements of $3,491,575, As the loss in cash was only $360,700, the surplus was benefited to the substan-tial extent of $3,130,875, bringing the surplus up to $5.817,300.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS. Business Was Active on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, March 24.-- Under the domina tion of higher cables from both Liverpool and Paris and the strength of corn, May wheat opened %c over yesterday at 65%@66 cents. Trade for a time was fairly active, shorts covering freely. Today's each business amounted to 310,000 bushels, but it was reported done at lower prices than yesterday. This, together with larger receipts and small clearances; the good weather and the fact that corn failed to hold its early advantage caused a reaction, and the close was rather heavy, May only a shade over yesterday at 60%. New York reported ten loads taken for export and most of the cash sales here were for the other side. Clearances in wheat and flour were 115,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 650,000 bushels, compared with 497,000 bushels last year. With Liverpool 1%. 114d up, light country offerings and a good outside demand, corn gave an exhibition of obstinate perversity by slowly sagging from the advanced position assumed at the opening, which was ½c up for May at 53%,53%, cents. The loss in price was due to persistent profit-taking by longs. Cash bushness was rather slow. May declined to 37%, closing heavy at that price, a shade under yesterday.

The oats market was, as usual, of very minor importance, influenced somewhat by corn, and closed a shade up at 24% cents.

The trade in provisions was not large. action, and the close was rather heavy, by corn, and closed a snaue up at 27,8 cents. The trade in provisions was not large. There was considerable profit-taking and some selling by packers. Prices at the yards were lower. May pork closed 7½ cents down at 11.72½; May lard, 507½ cents lowe, and May ribs 2½ cents down. The leading futures ranged as follows: Wheat-Na. 1:

responsible is not conceded. One bank alone seems to have contracted its loan for some time deprived the speculative element of available resources with which to operate. Great confidence has been expressed for several weeks that the new currency bill was to result in easy money, but the prespect of easy money is more difficult for Wall street discount than other favorable factors, because the actual relaxation of money must be awaited to supply funds for speculation.

As a matter of fact, the present relaxation of the money market is not due to additional supplies of bank notes issued under the new law, but rather to a general changing of plans by national banks with regard to taking out additional eirculation. For nearly two months there was large demand for loans on the New York banks for the purpose of buying government bonds. The price of government had been so much increased as a consequence that a liquidation of holdings offered much

There is considerable interest in the game being manifested among the business houses of the city, and some very good teams are being organized. The Z. C. M. I. has got a nine already in the field, and others will soon follow. The bankers have also reorganized, and have average a batter team than shay every have even a better team than they ever had before, and that is saying a good deal, for there are some good men among the cash handlers. They played a game with the Sait Lake Business college team on Thursday, and were defeated by a score of 7 to 12. As the Eusiness college boys have one of the strongest aggregations among the amateurs, that the score was not larger was very creditable to the bankers.

Will Smith, who held down the box alternately with Howell on the High school team for two seasons, is back into the game again, and is to play with his old friends. He will probably be placed at third base. The High school infield will then consist of Fred Smith, Bert Rasmussen and Will Smith, and there will not be a stronger trio in any of the school teams.

The baseball fever which has been so prevalent during the warm spring days, has fastened its grip on the servants of the city and county who labor daily for the public's welfare in the joint building, and a team is new ready to meet all comers. Ray Naylor, gal-lant soldier and clever ball tosser, is that they will be easy meat. WHEEL NOTES.

What is to Become of Road Racing This Year is Asked By Riders. While the talk of the season's pros pect for racing on the saucer track is all absorbing among the local riders, there is quite a coterie of the speed men who are beginning to wonder what is to be done toward a troad race this year. Many of the men are better road riders than they are on the track, and they quite naturally want a chance to show their ability. As yet no one has taken up the matter of a road race and no one seems to be willing to tackle it. J. P. Gunn was responsible for much of the road riding last year, but he is not in the city now, and will not be here. No one has come up to take his place. It is just such a man as Gunn that the local men want, but they can't find him. None of the dealers seem willing to promote a race, and there the matter stands. Al Shorten is one of the riders who wants road racing revived, and he is trying to get some one to undertake it. There are quite a number who are in sympathy with his efforts, and it is hoped that semething materialize soon.

Most of the riders have now gotten their wheels and have gone into active captain, and all of the talent of the building is to be utilized. While the officials will meet all aggregations of standing, they are after the scalp of the bankers mostly, and are confident be more spirited. Of course, many of the novitiates may drop out after they see what they are fitted for, and then develop into

J. A. Augustus, the physical director of the Y. M. C. A., has been taken in charge by Trainer Cushman and gives indication of being one of the speediest men on the track. He will probably shine most at long distance riding, as should be said that they are worthy hurbands. They will fight figurely to protect their homes and they will guard the bonor of their women with their own blood. It is a crying sin of the advance of Christian civilization that this red man of the far south should be compelled to lay down his life at the feet of the heartless pale-faced invaders to shield the hour of his home.

CLARK-DALY FEUD.

Stories of Its Origin-Clark and Daly Alone Knew the Cause.

"Twenty years ago William A. Clark and Marcus Daly were partners in the mining business in Montana," says a writer in Ainslee's Magazine. "The two had made their fortunes in the rough conditions of the early years in that state, and had been drawn together perhaps by that peculiar sympathy which, the world over, unites men of netural bigness. Daly was the agent and the practical mine locator and operator for the rich syndicate composed of J. B. Haggin, Lleyd Tevis and Georga Hearst (afterward senator). Clark was a merchant and a banker, who had been successful in most of his operations, and who had money to spare to fivest in mines. Clark's capital and Daly's mining acumen combined to form a partnership of unusual effectiveness. Memana's early mining developments involved the Clark-Daty movements at almost every important turn. writer in Ainsiee's Magazine. Their capital aided in the location and improvement of new mine sites, and hence of new towns. They had to do with the construction of the railroads. They built smotters and employed hundreds of men. They loaned money to others. They acquired landed as well as mineral properties. They established and conducted banks, built office structures, operated street railways, and—of necessity—went into politics. By the time the quarrel arose between them there was searcely a phase of the state's activities in which they were not, either jointly or individually, concerned.

"No one knows, except Clark and Daly themselves, when this close association began to break and no one clearly knows why. The friends of Clark do not acknowledge that there was any outward evidence of rapture until as late as 1888. The friends of Daly date it back to the latter part of the seventies.
